Foreword

Anyone attempting to collect and make available genealogical data will learn some pertinent facts. Among them will be a wide divergence in the degree of interest and enthusiasm upon the part of the "relatives" who might be expected to have a normal interest in the subject and are called upon to use some effort in aiding with the job. Also, from data now available, there will be noted some discrepancies in use of dates, or lack of the latter, upon the part of those who have attempted to keep such records; also, oversight in not setting down interesting facts, easily available currently, but hard to obtain later. As a hint to future compilers, might I suggest that it would be well to start early to accumulate the necessary dates and other information that seem to fade from memory as time goes on. The old family bible did a very good job, at least genealogically. It has passed out of existence and use in many families in recent and more hectic days. It has been the attempt of this "author" to bring up to date such information as he has been able to accumulate along the way upon the Favorite, Matthews and later related families. There will be unavoidable errors, in spite of the desire to be perfectly accurate. In any event, this "family tree" record should serve as a basis and start for those sufficiently interested, and enable future generations to carry on to the extent that their interest inspires them to do so. It just happened that at an early age I took some interest in the subject and, from time to time, obtained from my mother, Harriet Amelia Favorite Weese (Chart 1 and D), b. 1852, d. 1935, most of the data that has served as a basis for this product. I am much indebted also to Frances Favorite (Chart 1 and A), b. 1844, d. 1947. I wrote her when she was 97 for most of the information she gave me on her father's family (Samuel Favorite, b. 1804, d. 1888). Others to whom I am indebted for their patience, aid and co-operation in making this compilation possible are the following:

For later data on the Samuel Favorite Line, (Charts 1 and A), Leonora Hinsdill Parsons Prowell, New York City, and Calvin F. Favorite, Boston, Massachusetts, descendants, respectively of Leonora Favorite Tullis and Calvin Matthews Favorite. For the George Washington Favorite Line, (Charts 1 and A), Mrs. Emma Rietman, and her daughter, Pauline Rietman Glovier, of Amarillo, Texas, (Koontz-Rietman families, Chart A, page 1.) To the following also for later information on the George Washington Favorite Line:

For and of the James C. Favorite Family, (Charts 1 and B), his children, Amy B. Favorite, Huntington, Indiana, Mrs. and Mr. Arthur F. Weissenberg, Cincinnati, Ohio.

For and of the Chas. Augustus Favorite Family, (Charts 1 and C, page 1), Miss Merle Favorite, his daughter, Wabash, Indiana.

For and of the Lucy Jane Favorite Fooshee Family, (Charts 1 and C, page 2), Favorite Fooshee, her son, Mexico, Indiana.

For and of the Harriet Amelia Favorite Weese Family, (Charts 1 and D), her children, Rosanna Elizabeth Weese Hall, Mildred Purviance Weese Harker, Evanston, Illinois; and Robert Peter Weese, Barrington, Illinois.

To Mrs. Mel Burlingame and her husband, he a Favorite descendant, Minneapolis, Minnesota, for inspirational aid and effort on the subject of the Favorite genealogy.

(See later paragraph on Melvin Burlingame family.)

As there will be observed this compilation contains five charts showing the line of descent from early ancestors to children, some born as late as early 1954. In addition to the charts, there is some data and miscellaneous information in the form of notes on the occupations, education, political and church affiliations, etc. of those where such information was furnished upon request or found by search. This will not be complete. What is here may be of some interest in learning the several courses taken by the members of the families of the Favorite "clan" and what happens to those, most of whom are serious of mind, aware of their responsibilities and who try to get some of the varied good things of life from its opportunities, as they live it. At this stage I can only apologize for errors or omissions that critics may observe. An undertaking of this kind cannot yield a perfect result. However, there is satisfaction in knowing that the information on the whole is as accurate as circumstances allow. It finally becomes necessary to "draw the line" and set down what is available. This has been done. It will be observed that, as might be expected and natural, there was more information available on the relatives with whom "the author" was in close touch most of his life. This is an apology, too, for any seeming inequality in this respect. There is nothing to prevent any branch of the family from using this basis and enlarging upon the subject as any one of its members may be inspired to do so. The binding is flexible to provide for additions or changes.

It is hoped that this effort may add some slight interest and sense of pride in the Favorite "clan" in upholding the family name, of which there seems ample evidence to be reasonably proud.

THE FAVORITES AND THE MATTHEWS

1. THE FAVORITES

The name Favorite appears to have been derived from Fauveritz or Favouritz, then changed by usage from time to time to suit someone's fancy to Favourite, Favoritz, et al, then finally to Favorite which seems to have been the approved spelling with a few exceptions since 1774. While the trouble has not been taken here to go into this name subject thoroughly, there is little doubt that the owners of these variously spelled names sprang from the same ancestors. For the purpose of this record we will be satisfied to deal with "The Favorites", the most approved spelling used by the nearest relatives, as we know them, since 1774.

My search indicates that the ancestors of GEORGE FAVORITE, this author's great-grandfather (b. Nov. 12, 1774, d. July 31, 1842), including his grandfather and great-grandfather, "came from Germany, the exact date unknown" but probably at or near 1700-1710 (?) In this George Favorite family "there were seven brothers and two sisters. Three of the brothers never came West - John, Frederick, Henry. Others - Peter, George Abram Jacob, and two sisters, Aunt Christine Gump and the first wife of Mr. Morton, your aunt Eliza's (Elizabeth G. Favorite, b. Sept. 12, 1820, d. Oct. 10, 1889 m. William Morton) stepfather, were all of the family that I remember." This history from the record of "Aunt Maggie Brown" (Margaretta Favorite, b. July 31, 1818. Chart 1), sent Lida Stevenson in December 1896 copied by Frances Favorite (b. Aug. 3, 1844, d. Apr. 19, 1947, Chart 1)

2. THE MATTHEWS

"JACOB MATTHEWS was born in Alsace-Lorraine, then France, now Germany, Oct. 23, 1704. When a young man he was brought to America as a redemptioner by a Mr. Appel who settled in what is now Frederick Co., Maryland. He redeemed himself and by hard labor, frugality and economy managed to raise a large family and devised in his will more than four hundred acres of land and a sawmill, besides much personal property. He married in 1729, Margaret Jungin born Aug. 14, 1709 with whom he lived fifty three years and they were blessed with eight sons and five daughters ten of whom are mentioned in his will. He died on his farm two miles south of Emmitsburg, Md., May 7, 1782, his wife surviving until Oct. 12, 1788. The foregoing copied from a record in possession of Samuel Craig, Wapakoneta, Ohio (grandson of Jacob Matthews, b. Dec. 25, 1775, Chart 1), and sent to this author's mother, at her request under date of May 2, 1914. In the same letter he said "my complete records cover ninety pages in an ordinary record book and if you desire any information regarding any particular family don't hesitate to ask for it I will be able to furnish it". Recently, Mrs. Mel Burlingame of Minneapolis, Minnesota, had this record now in the hands of a relative in California. It must contain much Matthews-Favorite data (Additional information on Jacob Matthews)

In a lad in one of the early wars with Germany he was carried away as a captive and thus became a German. At what time he came to America I do not know but settled in Maryland, raised a large family and had many slaves. At his death, his property and slaves were equally divided among the children, how many there were I do not know. John, their youngest son, was my grandfather. He was born in 1749. Near the close of the Revolutionary War, joined the army but closed soon after so had no experience in battle. The slave portion of his inheritance he immediately set free except one old couple, 'Black Mace', as mother used to call him, who lived in their cabin to the end. At what date grandfather was married I do not know but as their oldest child was born in 1773 will suppose it was 1772. Their home was near a mountain in a valley. What was their nearest town I do not know. Mother (Mrs. John Matthews, Chart 1) often spoke of Hagerstown, Frederick and Emmitsburg. She spoke of home as being a beautiful place. Their first child married Mr. Oler. Do not know where he lived, his business or the number in his family. John learned and followed the tanning trade in Baltimore. Married a Miss Grub. (Ch. 6, see Chart 1.) All born in Baltimore and came to Ohio about 1824 or 1826. Jacob and family, all born before coming to Ohio. Wife's name Susan Lemon. Catherine next, married a Mr. Shrover (or Shover). Next in order, Julianna, m. Mr. Rouser, lived in Maryland. Next, Mary Magdalena, m. George Favorite. Lived in Emmitsburg, Maryland, two or three years, then McConnelstown, Huntingdon Co., Pa., twelve years, then to Ohio. This information was copied from a record made by a member of the George Favorite Line, b. 1774, probably his daughter, Catherine Favorite Warwick, b. 1809 (Chart 1).

"JOHN MATTHEWS (b June 25, 1749, Chart 1) was a private in Capt Brice's Co., Third Maryland Regiment, commanded by Col Mordecai Gist, Revolutionary War." His son, Johannes, "first morocco tanner in U.S., Baltimore, Md," later, at Ottawa, Illinois (?) Another son, Leonard, Pass Christian, Miss., sugar refiner. George W., another son, President, F and M Insurance Co., New Orleans, Louisiana. GEORGE WASHINGTON FAVORITE, b July 18, 1811, "in Montgomery Co., O., May 3, 1833." His father, GEORGE WASHINGTON FAVORITE, b 1774, "lived in Emmitsburg, Md., 2 years, McConnelstown, Huntingdon Co., Pa., 12 years, then moved to Ohio".

GEORGE WASHINGTON FAVORITE (b. 1811) Line, Chart 1 SAMUEL, the eldest son, was born in Maryland, September 22, 1804. His parents moved to McConnelstown, Pa., in 1805. They lived there until Oct 1818, then to near Dayton, Ohio. There he married Elizabeth Kellenberger. Later they moved to Dayton, Ind., seven miles east of Lafayette, then in 1864 to Lafayette. Later he moved to Chicago where he engaged in the meat packing business. This was probably an outcome of his experience as a farmer and familiarity with livestock marketing. He was reported to have "made a fortune but lost it in the period of depression after the war. He first joined the firm of John G. Law & Co. Two years later he bought Law out. The packing business was conducted under the name of "S Favorite and Son". He then returned to Lafayette there to engage in real estate and insurance business for the rest of his life. His younger brother, Elias, was a hat manufacturer in Dayton, Ohio, many years. Elias had two daughters, Mrs. Samuel LaRose, Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. Fred B. Hudson, Hartford, Connecticut. He was born in Bedford County, Pa. Samuel Favorite's son CALVIN MATTHEWS, born on his father's farm near Lafayette in 1834, and who had been in business with his father, remained in Chicago. He then associated himself with Armour and Co. When I first met him he sat across a large table from Mr. P. D. Armour, a "right-hand man" apparently. The office was on LaSalle Street near Adams. His business was to look after Board of Trade operations, including "corners" which were common practice in those days, as well as to supervise the packing end of the business. I first met him when I came to Chicago to attend Northwestern University in 1899. He was a very friendly person with a strong and cordial personality. He remained active and a director of Armour and Co. until his retirement at 71, in 1906. Further word on him and others of the Samuel Favorite Family will be found in "The Battle for Chicago", by Wayne Andrews, and in this writer's personal memoirs "From Bull Creek to Barrington", published privately in 1952. An article, somewhat abbreviated from a Lafayette paper follows:

Tuesday, Nov 2nd, 1886, at 124 Ferry Street was observed the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Favorite. Over 100 guests called. Mr. Favorite is one of our most esteemed citizens. A monitor of the Presbyterian church he has been an active elder for 52 years. Among other congratulations was the following telegram Chicago, November 2, 1886.

Mr. and Mrs. Favorite You have my hearty congratulations and only regret that I am not with you to help commemorate this eventful occasion. May you have many blessings and be spared to each other for many years to come. Philip D. Armour

The four generations present were composed of the following: Mrs. L. F. Start and C. M. Favorite, Chicago. Mrs. M. J. Gaddis, Misses M. M. and F. H. Favorite, of this city, were present. Grandchildren, Miss Alice B. Tullis and Foster Favorite of Chicago, and Mrs. Jeanette D. Ruby of this city. Great-grandchildren, Alice Tullis and Florence Eliza Lord, daughters of D. M. Lord. Mr. Favorite is of a long-lived family. He is in his 83rd year; Elias Favorite of Dayton, Ohio, in his 79th year, Mrs. C. F. Warwick of this city in her 78th year, Mrs. M. Brandon, Fountain Green, Illinois, in her 73rd year, were present. Mrs. Jonas W. Brown of Boise City Idaho, in her 69th year was not present. Other relatives present besides those mentioned above were: Mrs. C. M. and Foster Favorite, Chicago, D. M. Lord of Hyde Park, Alfred Gaddis and Thomas H. and G. Will Warwick, Mrs. J. S. Stevenson and sons Albert and George of this City.

Of Samuel Favorite's children I had met only three, CALVIN, FRANCIS, and MINERVA. My mother knew these cousins well as she had spent several weeks visiting this family when a young girl. Long visits were not uncommon in early days when distances were greater than now. At her suggestion I called on Frances and Minerva when in Lafayette in connection with one of my first jobs, a railway mail clerk, the duties of which took me there, at 20 in 1896. She was a pleasant maiden lady, very friendly and without the same she later achieved by living to the age of less than three months of 103. She was the youngest of the eight Samuel Favorite children. While my acquaintance with her was not close, I recognized that she was an unusual character and as her closer relatives passed away, she and I struck up quite a friendship. This came about in part because Lafayette was on the way to Florida where we drove usually once a year from 1930 on. While she found it necessary to use a wheel chair in her latest years, her mind was perfectly clear on all subjects. Some space was devoted to her in a paragraph on "The Favorites" in my "From Bull Creek to Barrington". I have thought that the real character of people is often never better revealed than in the letters they write. For that reason two of her letters to me and also excerpts from news items at the time of her death follow. This record, my scrapbook, which contains her picture and accounts from various papers, including several Lafayette, other Indiana papers and "the Chicago Tribune" at the time of her 100th and 102nd birthday celebrations are probably the most that will be said to perpetuate the memory of this sterling character whose strong political and religious convictions must have been felt by a good many with whom she came in contact during her long life.

Letter acknowledging a "snapshot" of the Weese children when she was 92

711 South Street
Lafayette, Indiana

September 24, 1936

"My dear Cousin:

"Your letter with enclosure was gladly received. I knew you would keep your promise of sending the family, for folks that have Favorite blood keep their promises. I am sure I was trained in that school.

"I'll tell you what I think - a father and mother who own such a fine looking family have every reason to be very proud of them. Maybe if I live long enough some time when they are really grown up they might wander my way and I would have more than a picture glimpse of them.

"How much you and your wife have to live and plan for - the best in life that will be for their good - I am sure there will be nothing lacking it is so beautiful to be young these days. They do not always appreciate it but later on when the time comes to look back they will realize it all.

"I was 92 last month and as my years go on I realize how much I missed that I would have enjoyed if I had not been born in 1844 but say 60 years later. But no matter how the years pile up there is always something pleasant to be thankful for. For instance, I have found you, or rather you found me. I enjoyed your call, your letters and your not forgetting. And the family relationship is not far distant and so I like to feel we are a bit more than friends and relatives are rather nice. Hope I have not presumed too much.

"I am still hurrahing for Gov. Landon. There are times when I get pretty blue over the outlook but the Digest poll is quite comforting but the tide may turn when F.D.R. turns on his oratory. I do hope I will keep well to vote. The Republican Headquarters have promised me that they will see that I get to the polls. I liked the 'Tribune' editorial to-day. They are usually comforting.

"I will be glad to hear from you or see you at any time, and I appreciate the picture very, very much.

"My pen gets tantrums now and then- hence the heavy ink.

"Sincerely

Cousin Frances H. Favorite."

The second letter

(93 years old in September)

711 South Street
Lafayette, Indiana

October 3 1937

"Dear Cousin"

"I wonder if you believe in thought transference - sometimes I do. For instance, for two days you have been often in my mind, my conscience pricking me for my long neglect of you.

"Yesterday P.M. I had a very pleasant call from my friend, Mrs. McQueen, and she brought word from you that you had not forgotten me and wondered if I were still living. I cannot tell you how glad I am that you still had an interest and cared to hear. I am not going to cover a page of apologies for not writing, for I have no excuse. What pricks my conscience most is that I never said 'thank you' for your lovely Christmas greeting which I did appreciate very much and still have as a reminder of your thought of me.

"The year has been pretty kind to me although I have had a few ills, and in the spring I took a cold and I barely escaped pneumonia. It took me quite a time to recover from the effects. When one is ninety three and going on they lose a little each time. I realize the past year has been a slipping one. It seems too bad that when the years pile up and the finish grows nearer that we cannot keep our activity and our faculties then growing old would not seem so undesirable. I have so many blessings I should not be unhappy.

"I can still live alone and do my own bossing, have many friends, and still enough eyesight to read the Tribune and mind enough to get furious at F.D.R. and happy when he loses out as in the Court deal. And have I been stirred up over the Black affair. There is no word to express it. I have only glanced through their editorial this A.M.

"I listened in to Mr. Black's radio explanation. I thought it far from being what it should be. He left many important items out, and I imagine he has not heard the last of it. He will take his seat tomorrow with the other fine judges, and I feel sorry for them that they will have to have a close companionship with such a low-down unprincipled man.

"During all this disgraceful affair I have thought often of you, and could well imagine your feelings on the subject. If F D R. took an oath on a stack of Bibles I would not believe him when he said he did not know he (Black) had belonged to the K.K.K.

"What a wonderful time he is having on this trip fooling or trying to fool the people. There are three people we could get along beautifully without--F.D.R., Farley, and Lewis.

"I would like to hear your opinion on many subjects. There is too much for me to understand. I cannot read all I want. You are a busy man too busy to spend time reading such a long letter, but if you will forgive my negligence and a leisure moment comes to you I would love to hear from you, and better still see you.

"I suppose your children are off to college and home is not quite the same, but Christmas is a pleasant time to look forward to.

"Kindest regards to your wife, which also include you

Cousin Frances

Newspaper excerpts

"Miss Favorite was born in Dayton Ind. August 3, 1944. Her father came from Maryland, her mother from Virginia. In 1829 her father helped his sister, Catherine (Mrs. George Warwick), and family move to Dayton, Ind. He was so favorably impressed that he decided to make his own home there. Consequently he returned the next year with his family coming from Dayton, Ohio. They had little worldly wealth but a great hope in what the virgin wilderness had to offer to those unafraid to work on this western frontier. They built a log cabin in Dayton and then a small storeroom where Mr. Favorite established himself as a pioneer merchant. Later he erected a larger frame house still standing. Among the customers in that early store were Indians. Deer, bear, and other wild animals abounded in the surrounding woods. Miss Favorite remains a sturdy, dignified representative of an age which carved a civilization from the western wilderness and which braved the hardships of the frontier to build solid foundations for the life of today.

Chicago Tribune Aug. 3, 1946 "Miss Frances H. Favorite who has been reading THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE daily for more than 80 years today celebrated her 102nd birthday. She said, 'I have no special recipe for my long life. Many years ago I decided to observe these three rules: to make friends and keep them; to retain an interest in public affairs; and not to live in memories. I've broken the last one a few times but never the other two.' She received several hundred postal cards and other greetings. I don't know why I have been permitted to live so long. No member of my family or ancestors, so far as I can learn, ever lived beyond 85," she stated. Adding to her perplexity on this point is the fact that she has never been really strong and has often been ill. Her mind is active and she is a bright conversationalist. Modest and unassuming her friendly smile makes friends of all those privileged to meet her."

Her brother Calvin, his wife, the latter's three sons Wm. Foster and his wife, George and Ward, are buried in Oak Woods Cemetery, Chicago, the place being marked by a granite vault.

A recent addition to the Samuel Favorite record is a memorandum from Mrs. Mel Burlingame, Minneapolis, Minnesota, her husband a Favorite descendant, to the effect that on file in the Indiana State Library of Tippecanoe Co. Ind., Samuel Favorite appears in the census records in 1830 as follows: "Samuel Favorite, one male between 20-30 years, one male between 30-40 years, two females under five years, one female between 20-30 years. (That would be Samuel, his wife and daughters Leonora and Martha. But who was the other male?)". In this writer's opinion it might have been another relative or just a member of the household. Census takers were not too accurate in some respects. The spelling of the Favorite name indicates or seems to, that it was still in the transitional stage in some places. The records of Montgomery Co. Ind. show that Samuel Favorite and wife Elizabeth owned the E½ NE¼ Sec. 34 Twp. 18N Range 5W from Mar. 28, 1843 to Feb. 14, 1852. Note that he now spells his name "Favorite".

There were large families in those days but prices for food to sustain them were very modest. In looking at these records the county history of Tippecanoe Co. Ind. contained a statement irrelevant but interesting, to the effect that Prices in Lafayette in 1841 were: beef 3¢ a lb., pork 2¢, lard 5¢, butter 8¢, cheese 10¢, eggs 5½¢ a doz., potatoes 22¢ a bu., hams 6¢ a lb., shoulders 5¢ a lb., flour $3.00 a bbl., wheat 56¢, oats 12¢, maple sugar 8¢, New Orleans sugar 10¢ and coffee 20¢ per lb. "Times seem to have changed", even if such things are relative.

Some, if not all, Lafayette Favorites are buried in Springvale Cemetery there.

The eldest child in the Samuel Favorite family was LEONORA (b. 1827 Chart 1 and A). She married William Tullis who died after two daughters, Florence and Alice, were born. She married again to L. F. Start, after six years, then moved to Chicago. That is where they met Daniel M. Lord who was the head of the well known advertising firm of Lord and Thomas in those days. He married first Florence Tullis, who died at the age of 36 when the third child was born, named Florence for her mother. They had three children, Arthur, Florence and Alice. At the time this writer was furnished this information in Dec. 1937, this son, Arthur Lord, "was living at the Lotus Club in New York City. He married an English girl. They had two daughters, one of whom died in infancy. The other, Katherine, married an Englishman high up in the British navy. His name is Armstrong and he is now (1937) in command of a warship and four destroyers in China. Their home is in a London suburb. They have been married seven years. No children. Arthur and his wife have been separated several years, not divorced. She lives in London. After three years, Mr. Lord married Alice, his first wife's sister. She had one son, Daniel (Dan), named for his father. He lives in East Orange, N.J. He married a southern girl from Georgia. Have one daughter, Mary Alice. She entered Bryn Mawr in Sept. (1937). 'She is a beautiful girl in every way.' He is connected with some bonding house in Newark. He and his brother, Arthur, are strong Republicans.

ALICE LORD married Mr. Edgerton Parsons of New York. He was connected with a large Marine Insurance Company with offices in many countries. There never was a finer man. They had three daughters, Alice, Leonora and Patricia. He died about six years ago (1931). Alice married and has one son. That makes him my great, great, great nephew. Leonora Parsons graduated from Smith a year ago (1936).

FLORENCE LORD married Will Hough, playwright and theater man. They lived together 12 years when she divorced him. She lives in New York (later Northampton, Mass.). She has one son, Gordon, second year in Harvard, a fine boy. Florence is a semi-invalid from a stroke of paralysis three years ago.

Patricia Parsons, 16, (1937) is in Bryn Mawr, preparatory school for Smith."

CHARLES AUGUSTUS FAVORITE. b. 1849. Children (4). Chart 1 and C. He lived on his farm, part of his inheritance from his father west of Huntington. Later he sold this place to his eldest brother, George, and bought a larger farm in Rock Creek Township, Huntington Co., Ind. Later he sold this farm and moved to Wabash County near Roann where he farmed substantial acres until his death. His family, perhaps more than any other of the Favorites that I know, elected to remain with "the soil". One son, EVERETT, b. 1878, Chart C., prepared for teaching at Valparaiso University but later returned to farming. ERNEST, Chart C, the other son, and his son, CARL, operate large farms near Roann, Ind. Carl's wife, nee GLADYS JEFFRIES (Chart C), was a registered nurse. She has the distinction of a late entry to this record, a son, STEVEN GALE, born Jan. 8, 1954. His death, from polio, on August 30, 1954, is regretfully announced. MERLE FAVORITE, b. 1891, Chart C. resides in her own home in Wabash, Ind., where she has been employed steadily with the same manufacturing company for many years. She contributed most of the information on the Chas. H. Favorite family.

HARRIET AMELIA FAVORITE (WEESE) b. 1852. Children (6). Charts 1 and "D". Born on her father's farm at the western edge of Huntington, Ind. Taught country school for a brief time before marrying. Married to HORACE GREELEY WEESE, who lived on a nearby farm. Residence. She and her husband, this writer's father and mother, lived for about one year with her brother, George, at the old homestead residence. After the first child was born they then moved to a farm, which they had purchased, situated about 5 miles east of Huntington, Ind. In 1884 there was a decision to give up farming. An interest in a farm implement business and a home were purchased in Huntington and a move to that city made. That remained their home for the rest of their lives, two locations, one old house and two new homes built. The farm and another were owned and operated for many years, the latter until shortly before my father's death in 1941. This is testimony to the reluctance to give up indulging agricultural instincts upon the part of those who start with the soil. Business: H. G. WEESE, Agricultural Implements, Salesman, (travelling) J. F. Seiberling & Co., Akron, Ohio. Later Seiberling Tires McCormick Harvester Co., J. I. Case Plow Co., Racine Wis., and other companies in similar lines for 15 years. Lime Manufacturing, briefly, Huntington, retail hardware, Bridge and Weese, six years, then sold to partner real estate local farms and farm lands, Texas and Dakotas, city property and insurance until time of his death. Hobbies: Fishing, hunting, music, ardent in all. When on the farm organized and played in "The Bull Creek Band", also, later with bands in Huntington. Sang first tenor in the Temple Male Quartette of Huntington, in demand for concerts at home and adjacent cities and for political and other occasions. All members, Republicans, sang for the Republican National Convention in Indianapolis that nominated Benjamin Harrison for President, elected in 1888. Education Meager. Took over household duties including cooking when his mother died when he was 13. At 17 started in a boys school at Defiance, Ohio, but was called home before long to help harvest the corn crop. He worked hard to try to make up for school deficiency, correspondence and otherwise. He and his wife attended singing school whenever possible at various times. Religion: Were faithful and active Methodists. He sang in that church choir for over 40 years. Summer cottage, Webster Lake, Ind., most used fishing site, but the Wabash River and other of the many northern Indiana lakes were often visited.

Alice Edgerton Parsons, Chart A. d. July 19, 1954. From New York Times, July 20, 1954.

Mrs. Edgerton P. Parsons, prominent New York clubwoman of 555 Park Avenue, died today at Ivy Haven Convalescent Home after a long illness. She was 77 years old. Mrs. Parsons was long a member and officer of many leading women's organizations and was particularly active in women's suffrage work and in organizations for international cooperation. In 1930 she headed the American Women's Delegation to the London Naval Limitation Conference, where she represented organizations of 6,000,000 women asking for drastic naval reductions. She was active in promotion of the League of Nations and the United Nations and was an observer at the latter for various organizations. She was formerly president of the Women's University Club of New York and of the Smith College Alumnae Association. She had been active in the League of Women Voters, a member of the board of the American Association of University Women and formerly vice president of the National Council of Women of the United States. She worked with Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt on the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War and was at one time treasurer of the organization. Mrs. Parsons was born in Chicago but had lived in New York since 1902. Her father was Daniel M. Lord, one of the founders of the early advertising agency, Lord & Thomas. Her husband, Edgerton P. Parsons, vice president of Marsh & McLennan, Inc., marine insurance company, died in 1929. She was a member of the Colony and Cosmopolitan Clubs. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Richard Prowell of New York and Mrs. James L. Christy of Virginia Beach, Va., and a brother, Daniel M. Lord of East Orange, N. J.
